sitiou, however, he is joined by many of the best men in the State, old-line Democrats and ex-robels as well. They see no see in tacking on to the title or the spirit of 1861, and are averse to any connection with the Northern Democracy just now.

I can easily explain this, for it arises out-of what I described as the anomalous elements within the State of Tedystees.

You must know that in Teanoesse the proportion of old-line Whigs is very much larger than in any of the Southern States except Virginia; but malite the old line Whigs of Virginia, who were made good enough Democrats by the process, and progress of the war, the old-line Whigs of Tennessee were never reconciled to the faith of the faithful. In East Teunoesse they preserve their identify and their grejudices to this good day. They regard the Democratic A. Thurneck, a Nashville justice of the pears died on haurday night. Governor Bullock, of Georgia, has ap-pointed John Burnell, of Pickens county, princi-al heaper of the positiontary. al hedger of the pentientiary.

of Tannessee were never reconciled to the faith of the faithful. In East Tempessee they preserve their identity and their prejudies to this good day. They regard the Democratic party as the author of all their troubles, and while they are very bitter against Republican faithlessness and Radical proscription, they boid the very name of Democraty as a synonym of disaster and defeat. Hence the origin of the term 'Conservativa.' It is a compromise intended to cover a great area of material having discordant aniccodenia, but which is united under the general principle of universal suffrage, bostility to Radical intolessnee, and what they call Copperhead Rombonism. You see it is an exceptional affar, neither Republican nor Democratic, which expects to 'ngo is alone' for the present, and to form its alliances hereafter.

"I am really achamed of the canvasa," I heard of Senter's saying, "It was very rough sed unworthy, but really it was herifable. Nothing clas would do. No other mode of argument would begin to cover the case. I had to fight the devil with fire. If I had used any other waspon I should have been consumed myself." This is correct, I dare say but is it not an askward commentary mon, the workings of this "antisersal suffrage" to which the people of Tennessee have been forced to commit themselves." Mr. Richard Shelton, an old and highly-respected citizen of Amberst county, Va., died lart week as the advanced age of eighty-siz Rr. W. R. THE SENATORINIP.

Who will represent Tennessee in the Senate of the United States in place of Senator Fowler? I term explies the 3d of March, 1871. Unless the present Legislature selects has successor the State will be without a Senator from the 4th of March of that year to the following October, when the next Legislare after the one will assemble. There is thus no vecancy for a couple of years; but this makes the suprants the more cager as it affords additional time and latitude for combination and intrigue. The class from which a Senator must be chosen is small. The only Republicans who stand the phost of a chance of celing honored with eren so fittle as a suggestion are Governor Senator, Mr. Fowler, and Mr. Secretary Estcher. The only Conservatives who have the strength are Andrew Johnson and Emerson Etherkige. T. A. R. Nelson and Buille Peyton are spoken of kindly, but they cas hardly be said to be in the ring. The fight will open between Johnson and Kitheridge, unless Johnson concludes to wine work and throws his strength to be feeled on the order of the depressing to take the place. At present there does not seem to be much likelihood of this. r. tion of his conception of the situation and I shall speak of it with the more freedom since I did not receive it from himself, but from this general hearsay which may be considered public property.

To begin with, Senter is a Republican. In Ohio he would be considered about such a Republican as Governor Cox, in Massachusetta shout such a one as Henry Wilson. But his Republicanies, unlike theirs, is hardly of so wearing a pattern, though the difference is chiefly due to the reography. He is for the rathershow of the Pattership sucudence, and in power. This is doubtless a gushing view of the ease, but then there is so much gush in the play of political business.

Another class exclaims, "What good can Mr. Johnson do no in the Senate! He is detected by the majority, and not particularly congouls to the minority. Why should we send him back to Washington? If he ever was efficient he is no longer so; and we need at this time a man who will represent the business rethirt han the nearliess of the poonle." defance to Congress, and that Tennesses is in no condition to dely anyhody. On the con-trary, they say, Tennesseo needs all the friends she can make, and had best be as conciliatory

I wheel a shrawd old darkey what he thought of Andy's chances.

"I think jeas this," he said, "that Andy Jonain is like de hen on dat ar' nous', an' when day to! her to "spread herself' she wasn'! sk." is it is a fack," said a gentieman who heard the remark; "if anything could demonstrate Mr. Johnson's unfitness for public service at this time, it was his break down before the Democratic convention last year. He had the whip head. He was in possession. But he lost the mountation at New York just as he lost all his other chances while he was President, and that proves conclusively that he is not the man he used to be in the old Whig and Locofoco days."

"You are mistaken there," said another party, who looked like a lany vagabond of a Joke. "How so?"

party, who looked like a lazy vagabond of a jokes.

"How so?"

"Why," says he, "it's just the same old Andy. R's the Seit of operation, don't you see, that's changed. Rere in Tennesseeli was an easy going thing. He know's every county and cross-road politician in the State. He could feel the pulse of them all and it silin't need much but a good deal of loud talking and hard a wearing. He carried it with a high hand said lorded it over the aristorary and was the poor num's friend. It was just nothing but wind, whisky and potatoes. It was a big difference when he got to be Fresident and had to hendle them Washington and New York swells, where they cat nothing but grouse and soft-shell crabe and drink nothin' short of champagne. Andy wasn't up to that aggs of thing. He was too honest and too victions by a thousand per cent, and so he went under. It was the same old Andy, only the coat was too big for him."

Barcasm—and I suppose this sort of street.

THE PIPTRESTS AMENDMENT. Tennessee, as you will doubtless remember, and their master how the polliticians may fine, the course of the popular impairs and was a Radical oversight. But the question is being discussed among Conservativas, and a proposition to make universal suffrage a party to the perfect of the popular impairs and proposition to make universal suffrage a party to the perfect of the popular impairs and proposition to make universal suffrage a party to the perfect of the popular impairs and proposition to make universal suffrage a party to distinct the perfect of the popular impairs and the position and among the perfect of the popular impairs and the politicism and the master of the popular impairs and the politicism and the politicism

"The Democratic party has lost on the block card. On the negro question it can win no rictories. The sooner it is out of the way, as an open issue, the better. It will be successed by more promising divisions of public opinion; and, while these are going forward on the surface, negre suffrage will be doing its work within the vitals of the body politic. This-brought home to the North as well as its the Santh was occasion whe necessity for a complete revolution of our arsken. The re-

To these objections a few timid persons add the appreheasion flat the escellant of Johnson will be considered in act of willful and wanton will be considered in act of willful and wanton only. Such will be the fatter of the Republican only. "In the reasure; I have pointed out; and my argument is complete even though I have out of it the play of the passions of Northern workingmen, who are most opposed to the negro, and the operation of the preposal to repudiate the national debt. On general principles I think you will find my view a prophecy, but as an expedient merely my opinion is that it will make two white roles it makes for the Republicans."
"And se you think it is a good thing?"
"I do indeed."

"I do indeed."

The late election, which may be briefly and appropriately described as a reaction against Radical ruffmanism exclusively, very naturally suggests to the outside press of both parties for the time being a them full of moral and speculative plaintakes. It is abldom, however, that a topic of general discussion developes so much genuise largorance. But this fact is in itself significant, and, as the greater part of the ignorance has failant to the lot of the Democratic newspapers, it furnishes in its order as commentary that may be turned to account. During four years the Democratic press of the Xoth was quistematically indifferent to sfairs in Tennessee. It refused, either through design or through simplify, to see that Tennessee was a magazine over-loaded with first-cats anti-Radjeal ammunition. The likelihood is that the party was fread of Andrew Johnson; if did net desire to make a fore-figure's Tennessee, because that mught add to Johnson's political stock in trade, and so it permitted a section of amexampled afforcities against liberty and against 'law to pass unchallenged. This missakes, Dolley is now auddenly reversed. Johnson as a possible Democratic nomines for Freedient is no longer design out the intervention of strangers. The fight is over and gained, and lo, Johnson is a great here and Tennessee a pillar of the party. All this is very shaby as it is very lapse the great Democratic organisation of the Union and perhaps lose the people of the State their hard-longin battle and well-earned vicitory.

That the se who are in favor of the organisation of a stranger to the organisation of a stranger to the party argue pass unchallenged. This mistakes policy is now suddenly reversed. Johnson as a possitive for the coat was too big for him."

Sarcasm—and I auppose this sort of street that may be called acreasm—is seldom logical. History will doubtless do Mr. Johnson jas. History will doubtless take a different view of his career. History will consistency will consistency and force of his public record; the compicuousness and purity, if not the success, of his administration. I am not writing history. I am record ing current impressions. All that I have quoted may be illusive. I have known the history of the conventions assemble in which he was invincible. It was so hast year, Judging from the surface, Johnson to the William and have seen conventions assemble in which he was invincible. It was so hast year, Judging from the currace, Johnson to the few or no friends in the convention of, the 9th of May. That body wrangled over him all day. Late in the convention of, the 9th of May. That body wrangled over him all day. Late in the evening the resolution indorsing him, and instructing the Tinnessee delegation to vote for his nomination at New York, was passed by a vote of two to one. So may it be now. But the Banner, which has been his best fired in Tennessee—which stood for him when he had no other friend—and which he without absets in searring a weather-cock of Tennessee politics as may be found, comes out flat against him, and the tone of the legation prove the prevailing voice.

Tennessee, as you will doubtless resonance to the Republican party is the prevailing voice.

In sonewar to the objection that the Democrais are one of gowge and fisht it is unwise to form an alliance with them on this account, they observe that conservation does not mean a third party but is only another name for prestical Republicantam; that it is impossible for the paople to give any soundsmane to the Republicantam; that it is a more to the Republicantam; that it is a more to the Republicantam; that it is only mational organization that is not prescriptive; that it is liberality and its tolerance are bound to wis in the long run, and that, no matter how the politicines may tries, the course of the popular impulse and its possible to the property of the popular impulse and the possible to the processing the processing the processing the processing the politicines may tries, the course of the popular impulse and the possible processing the processing that the processing the processi

"A coat with iffeen patches is a mighty por article of wearing appared. A Coastilation with fifteen mendments, most of them is rotten and all of them worn out, is no better, and won't wear. The reason why the efforts of the Democratic party have failed to accouse the country to a cases of the dangers that it threaten the Coastitution is, that the peop's have ceased to respect the Constitution, or recognize advantages which it no longer position would have been more daring, but also more acceptable to the people, because more obviously assential to the country."

"The Fifteenth Amendment is a step to worthwood of the Coastitution, as it is, belongs to the Republican party. It is substitution, as it is, belongs to the Republican party.
